

the jimibeat lyrics

summersun

words by c. csillag, music by the jimibeat far away from home life feels some kind of monochrome i'm searching for a sense it seems that it has gone don't know exactly how i got there till that day i didn't really care now it's time to find my way out of nowhere where do we go? where do we come from?

please tell me my way back home!
just tell me my way back home!

remember time when we were young when life was meant just to be fun when summer seemed to have no end and we had so much time to spend

can you remember? is it still there?
that endless summer, we can share remind the life, i've left behind now day by day it's midlife-signed old enough to know, that past you can't rewind live your life now or never 'cause your time won't last forever time is now and yesterday is past forever

where do we go? where do we come from?

when life was meant just to be fun
and we had so much time to spend

can you remember? is it still there?
that endless summer, we can share
